DESIGN TECHNOLOGY

Multi-disciplinary French artist and designer, Arik Levy bridged the gap between design and technology with his inaugural collaboration with renowned smart appliance technology and consumer electronics provider, Samsung, with four innovative designs for the much-anticipated Gear S3 smartwatch. Staying true to his motto of "life is a system of signs and symbols", the designs feature visually appealing graphics, which were inspired by Levy's existing artworks. Each design is embedded with distinctive character to suit the style of its owner.

SILKY SUPREME

Tatum, the expert in luxurious fabrics, wallpapers, furniture, lighting and home accessories, has recently publicised its collaboration with Jim Thompson, which brings the celebrated Thai silk, heritage brand into Malaysia for the first time in history. Along with the announcement, Jim Thompson unveiled its latest collections, named "All The Raj", "Floriental" and "Saracen". In "All The Raj", the designer for No.9 Jim Thompson, Richard Smith, revisited the well-loved textile crafts, inspiring colour palettes and romanticism of India, which brought the collection to life with alluring hues and exotic motifs. "Floriental", on the other hand, features a design that is inspired by floral and oriental elements while "Saracen" draws from Middle Eastern architecture from the Medieval period.
